PIZZA PIZZA

For Italians-It's all about the food

Holiday Hit "Jersey Bada Bing Christmas" crashes web site- Christmas 2006

Last Year's most requested song during the holiday season at WJRZ 100.1 fm was the "Jersey Bada Bing Christmas," a song written by Lucy Clark about her Italian family at Christmas Eve. The album which features 8 slices (or songs) is packaged in a miniature pizza box and looks like a pizza. Also included within the box is a hilarious music video DVD which is reminiscent of the "Sopranos." "The difference is, our song is not fictional and anyone who grew up in an Italian family can really relate," says Clark. "The pizza was only available last year on the internet and when too many orders came in, the server at Register.com crashed. With much more marketing by the record label 2007 including radio, Amazon.com, ITUNES and Barnes & Noble, "We're all holding our breath," Clark added.

SOPRANOVILLE'S OWN LUCY CLARK

Raised in Belleville, NJ, home to America's #1 favorite fictional family, Lucy Clark got her big break in music by being discovered by the legendary Les Paul. She later would appear on numerous recordings with artists such as Keith Richards of the Rolling Stones, Richie Sambora of Bon Jovi, reggie greats Sly Dunbar & Robbie Shakespeare, Paul Young and Johnny Cash to name a few.

Signed to four major record labels including her most recent being Universal, Lucy is currently filming a pilot TV Series and a new CD featuring more comedy Italian songs from the demand of the "Jersey Bada Bing Christmas."
